

Two major developments of the nineteenth century were the unification of Italy and Germany. Developments in those countries were both the fruition of earlier trends and changed the face of Europe. This session will deal with Italian unification, known as the Risorgimento.

Spencer DiScala, PH.D. Copyright 2007