

Assignment:

In this first week, one of the things that you should do is to familiarize yourself with some of the technical requirements and procedures which are involved in taking an online course. .. If you experience any technical problems, contact the help desk and phone which they provide you with. Look the syllabus over and E-mail if you don't quite understand something. E-mail me in the first week of class anyway to make sure that our computer systems are compatible.